

JUSTICE WILL BE DONE

On September 11, 2001 the United States experienced a tragic act of aggression. We mourn the loss of the thousands of people who started the morning not knowing they would be caught up in the terrible events of the day.

It is clear that nations around the world will work together on the war against terrorism. This will be a long and challenging effort; however, with the resolve of the United States and its allies, the war against terrorism will be successful.

"...we are a country awakened to danger and called to defend freedom. Our grief has turned to anger, and anger to resolution. Whether we bring our enemies to justice, or bring justice to our enemies, justice will be done."

*President George W. Bush
