Stainless Couplings & Adapters

Deepening our product offering, Ford Meter Box has unveiled an expanded line of stainless steel products for water, wastewater, civil and industrial applications. Our all-stainless couplings and adapters add to a growing line of stainless tapping sleeves and repair clamps that Ford has been manufacturing for decades. With a focus on corrosion resistance, our newest stainless products are the perfect choice for connecting pipes in harsh environments.

Available in type 304 or 316 stainless steel, Ford offers NSF 61 approved couplings and adapters to address your specific project needs.
